

Waveland approves utility increases

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

The Waveland board of aldermen reluctantly approved utility increases Monday to generate revenues for the repayment of the $1.3 million Farmers Home Administration sewer and water extension project.

The combined revenues from $1 increases on water and sewer services (each), the lowering of the minimum usage of water from 10,000 gallons to 7,000, and the hook-up fees for 172 new lines, are expected to produce just under the $92,000 yearly note.

The City of Waveland will be paying the $92,000 yearly note for 35 years.

The board said there existed the possibility that once the additional 172 homes are on-line, utility fees could be lowered because of the increased incoming revenues. But, there was also the consideration that the increases remain as the present sewer system was 20 years old and in constant need of repair.

Each alderman voted in turn.

Ward 1 Alderman Barbara Rappold voted, "Yes," adding that she did not like raising utilities, but preferred this avenue of distribution compared to raising property taxes.

Ward 2 Alderman Bob Hubbard voted, "Yes. It must be done."

Ward 3 Alderman Curtis P. "Phil" Colson voted, "Yes, with serious reservations."

Ward 4 Alderman Stan Weidman voted, "No." Weidman advocated better city management, saying the current 1992 budget shows the city transferring $1.35 million from the utilities (water, gas and sewer systems) funds to other city departments.

Frilot responded, saying many departments are not revenue generating, citing the street department as one such area.

Frilot stated that the FmHA approved the sewer extension project loan under the conditions that the monies for repayment be raised from utilities as it was the city's most viable source of income.

City attorney Lucien Gex commented that the FmHA loan is funded by "revenue bonds." These bonds are guaranteed payment from revenue sources.

Frilot added that at the last city meeting she stated that the one-and-one increase ($1 for

Bay gaming workshop

First day reveals still-present community division

BY TRACI BONNEY

The clear-cut division in opinion concerning beachfront dockside gambling in Bay St. Louis apparently has not faded with the passage of time.

About 50 people attended a public hearing Sunday night at the Hancock County Civic Center, to listen to and comment on presentations made by gaming study consultants Paul Buckhurst and Hawkins Stern.

Stern, of Economic Research Associates in McLean, Va., and Buckhurst, of Buckhurst Fish Hutton Katz Inc., New York, outlined three potential plans for gambling sites.

Option A included sites at Bay Cove Harbour, the Bay bridge, two downtown and one at the American Legion pier.

Option B took in Bay Cove, Bay bridge and one downtown site; while Option C included only Bay Cove and the Bay bridge site, and accounted for the possibility that Harrison County will legalize dockside gambling this year.

After outlining the options, which the consultants stressed were not final recommendations, Bay St. Louis city zoning project manager Jules Lagarde turned the microphone over to the 24 people who signed up to speak.

Of those who spoke, the majority voiced opposition to beachfront gaming in general or the Mardi Gras Casino Bay bridge site in particular.

Several others gave fervent speeches in favor of moving forward and bringing the gambling facilities into the area so Bay St. Louis and Hancock

Day two: group discussions dominate

BY TRACI BONNEY

"Option D" seemed to be the consensus choice of the 22 participants in the second night of the Bay St. Louis gaming study workshop held Sunday and Monday.

The second night of the workshop attracted about 30 people other than the round table group members. The session started with presentations from consultants Paul Buckhurst and Hawkins Stern, who repeated their comments of Sunday night.

They again laid out Options

A (five sites — two downtown, one at the American Legion pier, the Bay bridge and Bay Cove), B (three sites — Bay Cove, Bay bridge and one downtown) and C (Bay Cove and Bay bridge only). After explaining their findings, Buckhurst and Stern gave the discussion groups two general questions to consider, then allowed them about an hour to come to a consensus in their answers.

The first question involved key issues in the study, and encompassed traffic management and car parking, preservation of historic character; provision of adequate services and infrastructure; respecting scale of downtown and residential neighborhoods; and the methods or ideas the groups had to address the issues.

The second question concerned listing the advantages and disadvantages of the Bay Cove, Bay bridge and downtown sites, and suggesting specific design guidelines that the groups thought would be important if dockside gaming were to

Lagarde gives resignation

Mayor Favre: Matter unresolved

BY TRACI BONNEY

At the end of his presentation to the Bay St. Louis city council Tuesday, city zoning project manager Jules Lagarde told the council he planned to hand in his resignation Wednesday.

Lagarde said he was resigning, effective November 1, because he has no liability protection in the event of a lawsuit from a potential gaming developer.

He explained that once gaming/zoning study consultants Paul Buckhurst and Hawkins Stern gave their final recommendations, a lawsuit could be filed by any developer whose site was not recommended.

Furthermore, he added, "I just don't think I can add any more at this point to the proceedings."

Lagarde has served as a liaison between the council and the consultants since they were contracted during the summer. He said he feels he has done almost all he could as a liaison, and requested that the council set two workshop sessions so he can tell them where the study process stands and what needs to be done to finish it.

The council asked him to stay

Bay council rejects BMR application for gambling site preparation permit

BY TRACI BONNEY

The Bay St. Louis city council voted Tuesday to reject a copy of Mardi Gras Casino's application to the Bureau of Marine Resources for a pier construction and channel dredging permit.

The council voted 4-0 (Tom Favre was absent) to reject the copy at the recommendation of Mayor Edward Favre and city attorney John Seafide because the city's comprehensive gaming feasibility/design guidelines/zoning study is not yet complete.

BMR sent a copy of the application to the city council, as well as the board of supervisors and other governing agencies, to invite the council's comments about the application.

However, the council pledged several months ago not to consider or comment on any applications until the city study was complete.

Other business addressed at the meeting included approving city sponsorship of the November Chamber Morning Edition; dealing with property cleanup matters; accepting the September budget report and privilege license list for the minutes; approving three parade permits; and accepting term bids for road and sewer maintenance supplies.

Mardi Gras may reduce facilities

BY TRACI BONNEY

After applying to BMR earlier this month for a permit to build a 1,350-foot pier and dredge a 1,875-foot channel in the Bay of St. Louis, Mardi Gras Casino Corp. now is considering scaling back its planned gaming facility.

Ministers urge donations for Hancock Food Pantry

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The local ministerial association is sponsoring a special food drive for the Hancock County Food Pantry.

Recent reports show an increase in the number of families seeking assistance from the Food Pantry, which was begun by, and is operated by volunteer members of the community's churches.

On Saturday, October 26 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., ministers and members of their congregations will have trucks parked at local shopping centers for collections.

Rev. Nathan Barber, spokesman, said, "We feel this is a serious time for the Food Pantry, as there are so many folks in need and supplies are very low."

"We will even have a list available at each truck, noting the most needed items at the Pantry. This will give donors an idea of what they may want to donate while doing their own grocery shopping," Barber added.

Another collection drive by the ministers will be on Friday, November 8, at local high school football games, when plans call for trucks to be available to gather non-perishable items for the Food Pantry.

Sunday, November 24, has been designated as Food Pantry Sunday in local churches.

Barber said, "A special collection of non-perishable food items and donations will be gathered at each church, and all will be taken to the annual Community Thanksgiving Service and placed before the altar."

The service this year will be at First Baptist Church, Main Street, Bay St. Louis, 7 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 26.

The Hancock County Food Pantry's operation is supported by local churches, businesses, civic organizations and individuals. It is also an agency of the Hancock County United Way.

Some 5,039 families have been served by the Food Pantry in five years with a total of 16,122 people.

In recent months, the number of families seeking assistance has doubled, according to Mrs. Ina Piazza, Food Pantry president.

The Food Pantry is open Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to noon, behind the Hancock County Courthouse next to the Civil Defense office. Stringent guidelines for providing assistance are enforced.

Ready to help

Area ministers Ron Skinner, left, and Nathan Barber will be at shopping centers Saturday to collect non-perishable foods for the Hancock County Food Pantry. They, along with church members, will be collecting from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 26. (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran)

Political forum set Tuesday night

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

A political forum for local candidates with opponents in the November general election is scheduled for Tuesday, Oct. 29, 7 p.m., at the Hancock County Civic Center, Longfellow Road. Each candidate will be given five minutes for an introduction and a campaign statement, said Cindy Vernon, chamber executive director.

The chamber-sponsored event will give the audience an opportunity to submit questions for the candidates as they enter.

Three-by-five-inch cards will be given to the audience upon entering, and cards will be collected and questions divided by offices sought. The candidates for each office will select questions at random.

Each candidate will have up to two minutes to reply. This will not be a debate by the candidates.

Qualified electors are advised to attend, as this will give them an opportunity to see and hear all the candidates.

For further information, call the chamber at 467-9048.

Waveland woman dies Sunday

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County coroner Norma Stiglet reported that 26-year-old Denise L. Muse Page of Waveland died Sunday at about 3:30 a.m. when her car left the Fenton-Dedeaux Road and struck a pine tree.

"She apparently lost control when trying to negotiate the curve," he said.

Hoda added that Page's car was spotted by a passing driver who called the county sheriff's office at 5:27 a.m.

Mobile Medic, the Fenton Fire Department and the sheriff's office responded to the call.

Stiglet said Page, who died of head injuries, was the third traffic fatality within Hancock County this year.

County can reap the economic benefits of what was referred to as a new industry.

A few people questioned the consultants' statistics concerning numbers of visitors (2.7 million a year projected under Option A, and 967,000 a year under Option C); mentioned other factors that had not been discussed in the consultants' presentations; and presented "Option D," with only the Bay Cove site supporting a gambling operation.

The following are excerpts from four of the 24 people who spoke Sunday.

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS

W.S. Goldman: "I'd just like to say something about what I didn't hear."

"I heard no reference to noise pollution; I heard no reference to the times at which the facilities will be allowed to operate. I heard no reference to the impact of these types of operations on schools, on churches, on day care centers."

"I have heard no statements on the code requirements for what's called the 'coastal hurricane zone,' including regulations for 'hurricane damage for debris, the type of structure that could be allowed or the location of it, the strength of it, the wind load—I have heard no mention of these."

"I have heard no mention of the impact of the proposed structures on our present codes.... But I do think that in a study for the City of Bay St. Louis all these things need to be addressed."

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

James Wyly, a resident of North Beach Boulevard: "First, I think (a facility at) Bay Cove is the highest and best use for that property."

"Traffic-wise: I live there; every day I see what goes on with the traffic on North Beach Boulevard. I've been downtown on weekends; I've seen the bottlenecking right there in the downtown area, and it's a problem. I don't know how you cure it."

Wyly invited the consultants to view the problem for themselves from his residence. He also reminded them that, as others had said before him, there are several historic houses on the beachfront and other local attractions or activities that could be negatively affected by a gambling operation.

"There are cultural resources at stake here; not many communities can say that."

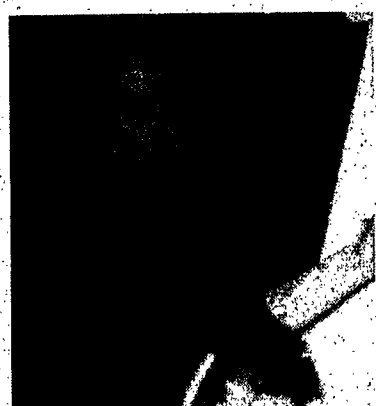

He ended by reiterating Goldman's remarks about aspects that had not been addressed in the presentation.

OTHER COMMENTS

Gaming proponent Norma Marrs: "I have watched this area go from a thriving community right down the tubes."

She sympathized with the beachfront home owners and said if she owned a beachfront house she'd have the same attitude toward downtown gambling facilities, but went on to talk about local poverty levels and the depressed economy.

"I talk to business people every day. They're all ready to move. No one is making any money.

"We have to do something as a community, and it's going to take a lot of struggle, a lot of work on all our parts in order to make this community survive and thrive. It can thrive, and we can keep the basic things that are beautiful about this community."

"We can keep our beaches; we can keep our culture; we can keep all of those things that are dear to the people who have lived here for years and years, to the new people like myself—I'm a newcomer, three or four years, seven years in business here; but I live here now, I'm part of this community. I want to see it thrive just like the rest of you do."

"And here is an opportunity. We kissed the feet and laid out the red carpet for GE Plastics, which brought us 120 jobs. We've got a man here with the Mardi Gras Casino that's offering a minimum of 900 quality jobs, and we treat him like scum because he's bringing gambling."

"I never found anything in the Bible yet that said gambling was illegal or immoral. They played dice, just like children throw the jacks, for Christ's robe at the foot of the cross—that's how ordinary the Crucifixion was to the Roman soldier. They just went along playing their little games, just like they always did."

"That's the only reference to anything bad about gambling."

occur at all three sites.

As at the first workshop August 1, the groups wrote their ideas on a large easel, then gave five-minute presentations on their discussions.

The majority of the members in all three groups advocated "Option D," a site at Bay Cove only, which was suggested at the Sunday public hearing portion of the two-day workshop.

Susan Daigre, who spoke for the first group, started with potential parking problems.

She said the group agreed that restricting parking in the downtown area "won't work" because the city would have to restrict residential and business parking as well. Possible solutions offered included parking passes, tow trucks and stiff penalties.

However, the group members evidently didn't think these ideas would be totally effective. "You can tell people they have to park in lots; they're not necessarily going to do that," Daigre said. "So, we came up with 'no downtown site.' That seems the easiest solution for us."

She explained that Bay Cove, with its on-site parking and shuttle service into town, was the group's most favored site.

Concerning preservation of historic atmosphere, the first group agreed that more control would be needed of the architecture, design, sizes, heights and other aspects of gambling facilities. The group considered the idea of a designated district, but realized there probably isn't enough time to legally set up such a district.

Weight limits on roads, control of delivery hours and questions about methods of unloading delivery trucks also concerned the group members. Daigre said these problems were another strike against a downtown site.

The archaeological value of the area including the Mardi Gras Casino Bay bridge site also came into question. Daigre said that as she understood it, that area includes several Indian mounds and the former site of a French fort.

Provision of adequate services and infrastructure was another area in which a downtown site would not fare well, she said. With no way to widen roads, and traffic congestion at certain times, emergency vehicles would have difficulty negotiating streets.

In addition, Daigre questioned whether the sewerage system would hold up under the added load of one or more casinos.

Problems with evacuation during hurricanes—the availability of tow boats at all times, and possible obstruction by silt buildup in the channels—and ecological concerns—dredging and silt buildup—also were highlighted during Daigre's presentation.

The group considered the pros and cons of all three proposed sites, and decided Bay Cove was best, with several advantages and only three disadvantages—proximity to Bay High School, problems with trash and noise pollution.

The Bay bridge site was deemed second best, but had several disadvantages listed against it—hurricane protection and damage problems; negative effects on the historical character of local residences and traffic; and the ecological concerns of dredging and silt buildup.

Daigre said the group merely voted on the downtown site, which received one "yes" vote, one abstention and "five overwhelming nos."

The other two groups echoed the concerns, questions and comments of the first group. The third group, whose spokesman was Kelvin Schultz, added two other concerns: the source of revenues to provide services and infrastructure during the "lag time" between a facility's opening and the first tax collections; and the inevitable change of lifestyle for local residents that would come about from the operation of a gambling facility in the downtown area.

Schultz pointed out that a resident who wanted to patronize a downtown store or restaurant might not do so if forced to park in a satellite lot on Hwy. 90. That person might instead patronize the businesses on the highway.

After hearing the presentations, Bay St. Louis city zoning project manager Jules Lagarde thanked the participants and told them that Buckhurst plans to return to Bay St. Louis between mid-November and the beginning of December to give his final site recommendations to the city council.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

It has been a very long time since I can recall as many meetings and events of importance which have been happening during the month of October.

Some days there are two or three events, and many times two are set for the same hour.

I have spoken to several concerned residents, and they too have conveyed the same observation.

As a community service, the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is trying to compile a Community Bulletin Board to list the many meetings and events.

If a group or organization would like to set a date for an event or meeting, they can give the chamber a call and be advised if any other function is set for that time or day.

The only way for this to work though, is for every event or meeting to be listed with the chamber.

A good start would be for a spokesman from an organization or group to give the chamber a call and report regular weekly or monthly meeting times.

The support of everyone is necessary for the chamber to be successful in this venture.

On Saturday morning from 7 to 10 a.m., the Diamondhead Rotary Club will be sponsoring a Pancake Breakfast at the Fire Station on Kalani Drive.

Proceeds from this fund raiser will go to Diamondhead's Fire Department.

The menu includes pancakes, bacon, orange juice, coffee or milk. All of this is for a donation of $3.50 for adults and $2 for children under 12.

This will be a good time for many folks about to visit our fastest growing community in the county.

I know all the Rotarians will be very happy to see you.

The regular high school football season begins to wind down as it moves into week eight Friday night.

It will be homecoming for Bay High's Tigers Friday night, and they play host to Perry Central.

The Tigers were very aggressive on defense last week against the Hawks, losing a thriller 7-0.

The young Tigers, with Rocky Gaudin as head coach, can even their season's record at 4-4 with an effort like last week.

The Hawks of Hancock will journey across county lines to play the Bienville-Maroon Tide Friday night in a conference tilt.

Hancock, fresh from a victory over Bay High, is sporting a 4-3 season and will really have to be up to add in the win column.

Hancock has had good and bad games this season, and head coach Irving Favre will need an error-free game to tame the Maroon Tide.

This should be a good game.

The Rock-A-Chaws of St. Stanislaus will get the test of the season Friday night when they journey to Carriere to play Pearl River Central's Blue Devils.

Pearl River Central's record is spotless this season with a 7-0 record and leads the Division 8 Class 4-A conference.

The Rocks will have to play better than in the Gulfport game to bring another victory for head coach Ken Lyons.

Pearl River Central probably has the best high school quarterback in South Mississippi.

We hope to see you at the games Friday night. Remember, the games begin at 7:30 p.m.

The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's musical comedy Dracula, The Musical will be presented on Friday and Saturday beginning at 8 p.m.

The Little Theatre is located on Boardman Avenue, Cedar Point, Bay St. Louis.

Reservations may be obtained by calling Carol Young, 467-2121.

Last week's performances were hilarious, according to reports I have received, and you may not want to miss it.

The play is entertainment for all ages, evident by the front rows being filled with children around age eight or so.

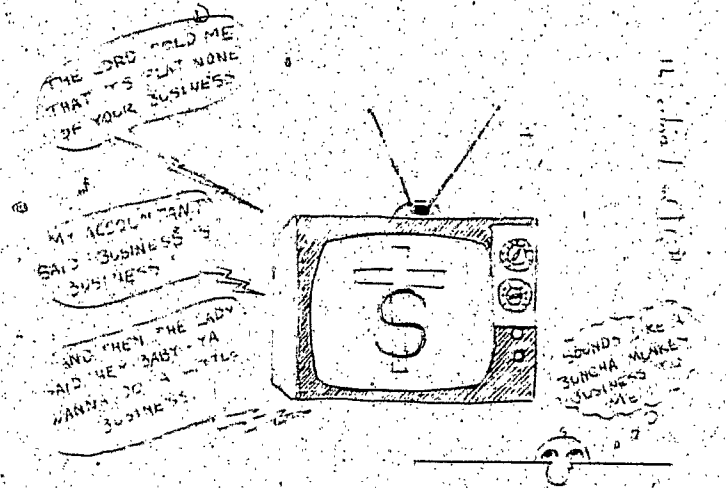

The play has a cast of 22, with Noel Gilliam and Glinda Toomey co-directors.

Word about town is that folks want to get to the theatre early for a seat.

Funding nears for high level bridge

The high level East Pascagoula Bridge in Jackson County is one step closer to becoming a reality. Last week, the $5.1 million budgeted for preliminary engineering design cleared the House Public Works and Transportation Committee, sending it to the House floor for a future vote.

For more than a decade, South Mississippians have had to negotiate a bridge that is unable to handle the increased traffic loads created during rush hour and hurricane threats.

If funding for the high level bridge is passed by both the House and Senate, tens of thousands of South Mississippians who use the bridge every day will benefit from the project, both in time and safety.

Last March I spoke, with Robert Roe, chairman of Public Works and Transportation, to draw his attention to South Mississippi's urgent need for highway improvements. Chairman Roe's help has been invaluable in the past few months by assisting me in getting this particular project into motion.

I'm also thankful for the cooperation I have received from Southern District Highway Commissioner Ronnie Shows. The State Highway Department provided the cost estimates and documentation needed for consideration by the Public Works and Transportation Committee. His prompt assistance has been greatly appreciated by both Chairman Roe and myself.

First and foremost, the high level bridge will provide for hurricane evacuation of the metropolitan areas of Jackson County served by U.S. 90, as well as provide for evacuation of navigational traffic without disruption of either type of traffic.

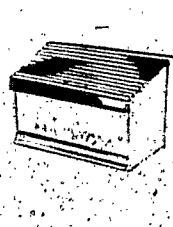

As of now, when hurricanes threaten our coastline, the present bridge span must remain open to allow vessels the opportunity to travel inland. While open, the bridge span disrupts automobile traffic evacuating by way of Hwy. 90. The high level bridge would eliminate the problem entirely.

Secondly, the high level bridge would provide uninterrupted access to both Ingalls Shipbuilding, which employs more than 16,000 workers, and the newly constructed U.S. Naval Station Pascagoula.

Finally, highway user costs would be reduced because motorists would no longer be delayed by navigational traffic.

The project will include the removal of the existing four lane bridge, construction of a new high level six lane bridge, ramps and approach work.

Hopefully, the full House will approve the appropriation so it will be sent to the Senate for consideration before the end of this year.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Volunteer would gladly help out in Waveland again

To the Editor,
A few months back, Mayor Stella Fritot called me to ask my advice on remodeling a counter in the board room on Coleman Avenue. I gladly volunteered to do the job myself. Nevertheless, Stella was there with brush and paint in hand, and together we did the job, she working just as hard as I.

I never felt pushed into doing this job, nor did she have to twist my arm! I would gladly volunteer to work again for Mayor Fritot as would many others, regardless of what some would have you believe.

Give Stella Fritot a chance, she is a very hard-working mayor.

Sincerely,
Carol Young

Bay Little Theatre lauded for performance

To the Editor:
Congratulations to the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre.

On Saturday, Oct. 19, my wife and I had the opportunity to attend the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre production of 'Dracula.' It was well done, and we spent a marvelous night being entertained. The entire audience seemed to have enjoyed the show as much as we did. All the actors were great, but Carol Young stood out in a stellar performance.

I hope the theatre does more of these family-type musicals and that the community will show its support and encouragement.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

How to finance state government big issue

The greatest problem Mississippi faces right now is how to adequately finance state government and stop further deterioration of the state's most valuable institutions and services.

Unless the funding of state services is restored to a level of decency comparable to American standards, many fear there is a very real danger Mississippi could become a Third World state.

The candidates for governor have virtually ignored the gravity of the state's fiscal condition. What they should have been talking about this election year is how they propose to reverse the backward slide of grossly underfunded state services. But they have not.

The message which has been coming from the candidates has been filled with all the anti-tax bromides, making it appear that there is plenty of money from the existing revenue structure to adequately operate state money from the existing revenue structure to adequately operate state services, if it is properly parceled out and better managed.

That is pure hogwash. Certainly no one could quibble with the need for tight management of funds in almost any state agency. But the notion that there is enough money available to adequately fund almost any function of state government is a gross distortion of reality.

Specifically, one only needs to bring into focus the fiscal picture of the state at this juncture, only a third of the way into FY 92, to see how appalling it is.

It must be remembered that the current budget approved by the 1991 Legislature represented cuts of some $120 million from last year's budget, with senior colleges and junior colleges taking a $25 million hit, for the second time in four years.

Then there was the shell game played with the minimum education program whereby $30.8 million was finessed from the FY 92 budget to fill the hole left by cuts in the FY 91 public school budget.

That $30.8 million will have to be restored to the public schools by the Legislature in January or the impact would be devastating to many school districts' budgets. Already, quite a few districts have had to raise local taxes to compensate for the withholding of their share of the $30.8 million.

To pay bills thus far in the first four months of FY 92, the state general fund has already borrowed all of the $38-million working cash balance set aside for the entire year. On top of that, the state has had to borrow $85 million of the $100 million permitted by state law to be borrowed from special funds.

Monthly tax collections are running about as projected, but the ominous drag of the prolonged recession is clearly evident, and there is considerable doubt now that there will be enough money available in January to take care of the $43.6 million in mid-year deficits the Legislature is already committed to pay.

Looking ahead to next year's budget, the various state departments and institutions are asking for $610 million more than they got in this year's starvation budget. Those are not pie-in-the-sky requests, they are realistic goals to restore a modicum of decent services.

Higher education was put its needs at $126 million more than the $182.1 million it got this year, and the junior colleges say they need $40 million more than the $69 million in FY 92.

The prospect now is that none of the $610 million requested increases in the state budget will be funded unless some additional tax revenues are put into the revenue stream. The projected 4.5 percent revenue growth next year will only provide $85-$90 million which will barely take care of "built-in" increases for such programs as Medicaid, the minimum school fund, corrections, debt service, and so on.

"The problem is so big, it's going to take some real courageous leadership from the executive branch for the Legislature to come forward with new taxes to even make a big dent in it," said Rep. Charlie Capps of Cleveland, now the House Appropriations chairman.

Capps said the state "has been funding one year with next year's money" for the past several years and "you just can't keep doing that."

The task of raising taxes in 1991 is made even tougher because legislators will likely have to go back to the electorate again next year to hold on to their seats.

Will anybody have the courage to bite the bullet on taxes, or will state services continue to go downhill? Think about it.

Mardi Gras

Company spokesman Don Tyner said Mardi Gras Casino Corp. recently began talking about downsizing its operation in response to city leaders' and community residents.

"The community didn't seem to want a large bridge-looking pier right next to the (Hwy. 90) bridge."

He said Mardi Gras is considering several plans, one of which is to eliminate the proposed six-story, 300-room hotel, shorten the pier and eliminate one of the three barges which would serve as a foundation for the casino and restaurant.

"Aesthetically, the development will be the same. It will be beautiful, and it will be something the city can be proud of."

Mayor Edward Favre said he felt the original development was too large for the city, and he thinks the developers are coming to realize that a smaller operation will probably be more acceptable in the community.

Mardi Gras originally predicted creating about 2,000 jobs. A smaller operation will mean fewer revenues and jobs, but it will also mean lower development costs.

A NEW ERA IN LAW ENFORCEMENT FOR HANCOCK COUNTY

Paid political advertisement by Ronald A. "Ronnie" Peterson

Elect JOHNNY J. GRYNER Supervisor

Republican • District 5

Hancock County is one of the fastest growing counties in Mississippi. We must solve the many current problems and prepare now for the fine future which awaits us.

I will work to make these problems priorities . . .

Economic Development and Job Creation - We cannot stand higher taxes. To provide our needed services, we must increase the tax base through industrial development and job creation. We must stop waste in spending and take advantage of more state and federal aid.

Gravel Streets and Roads to be built up where needed and paved. Maintenance cost on gravel streets and roads over a period of five to ten years would pay for modern pavement if done now.

Drainage - A major drainage plan was developed for the Board of Supervisors in 1983 that would solve local drainage problems, stop infiltration in the sewage system and prevent damage to streets and roads. The Board of Supervisors never acted to implement this important plan.

Waste Disposal - The 1992 budget for waste disposal alone is $452,000. This amount includes subsidies to commercial garbage collectors, trash haulers, Bay St. Louis and Waveland. The cost per household county wide of your tax is $3.80 per month and still no curbside garbage service in rural areas. I will propose and work for county wide garbage pick up at each home.

Law and Order - We must have better paid, well-trained law officers and the equipment to get the job done. The Sheriff's Department should be adequately funded at all times.

County Wide Full Time Fire Departments.

Better Pay and Benefits For Full and Part Time County Employees.

Improved Recreation Programs and Facilities For All Citizens County Wide.

Until recently, this was the closest many Mississippians came to fire protection.

When George Dale became Insurance Commissioner in 1976, and assumed the position of State Fire Marshal, 30% of the rural homeowners in Mississippi lived more than 20 miles from the closest fire station. The time required to get a fire truck to their home or farm buildings cost them dearly...often their livelihood went up in smoke. ■ When George Dale took office, he took action. He established programs that improved fire protection for rural property owners. And, as a result of his single-minded determination, Mississippi now has 750 fire stations within five travel miles of each residence. And 51 new fire protection districts

Since taking office 16 years ago, Commissioner Dale, with the assistance of his staff, has created a Fire Report Data Base that reduces emergency response time, developed an Arson Investigation Program in each county, and established a Rural Risk Pool to assist homeowners in obtaining affordable insurance coverage. ■ George Dale has done more as Insurance Commissioner to improve rural fire protection in Mississippi than any other elected official. He made sure that real fire protection was close enough to make a difference. ■ Elect George Dale Insurance Commissioner, again.

Halloween alternative party slated next Thursday evening

BY TRACI BONNEY

What do you do if you're a parent who's concerned about your children's safety on Halloween?

Most parents who don't want their kids to trick-or-treat throw parties. However, most of these parties remain small. They don't grow into county-wide affairs.

Robert and Judy Pino's party is a different matter. Many years ago, when their son Chris was a child, the Pinos decided to have an annual party to give Chris and other neighborhood children an alternative to trick-or-treating.

The party grew. Last year, the Pinos' party turned into an event attended by more than 1,000 local children and youth.

A party this size was a little too much for the Kiln couple to hold at their house, so it was held at First Assembly of God Church in Waveland.

Robert Pino said, "It was a big success. We had a traffic jam from the church (on Arnold Street) all the way out to McDonald's. We had to have a police officer directing the traffic."

This year, the party is moving to the lot next to Pino's Variety Store, across from Wal Mart on Hwy. 90. The store will close at 4 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 31, so the Pinos and other folks involved can set up the booths and sound stage.

The Pinos started this party

— now called the Hallelujah Harvest Time Festival in honor of the season of crop reaping — but they are not the sole force behind it now that it is a county event. Robert is serving as site coordinator, but other concerned Hancock County and Coast residents are coordinating and running the booths and entertainment.

Highlights of the event include live music, a karate demonstration by Rannie Lader's karate students from 6 to 6:30 p.m., game booths for children of all ages, a "kissing" booth, face painting, clowns, and a musical mini-drama.

All games and entertainment are free, and candy and prizes will be given to all children who participate. The games will run from 6 to 8 p.m.

The only things that won't be free are the Domino's pizza and soft drinks.

"This isn't a fund-raiser. We're just trying to offer a safe, family-oriented alternative to trick-or-treat," Robert emphasized.

"So bring a lawn chair and enjoy the fun," Judy added.

Gulfview hosts carnival Friday

Gulfview Elementary School will host its annual Halloween Carnival tomorrow from 5 to 9 p.m. Contests for the best carved pumpkin and the best costume will be by age designations.

There will be a haunted house, many homemade crafts, a Halloween novelty booth, bingo games and many other game booths.

Food and drinks will be available, including hot dogs, hamburgers and nachos.

A clown will be selling balloons, and a disc jockey will provide music throughout the night.

Monies raised will be used through the PTC for the purchase of supplies and equipment at the school.

Waveland children invited to Halloween party

Waveland area school children are invited to a community Halloween Carnival the evening of Friday, Oct. 25 at St. Clare School.

Activities will begin at 5 p.m., according to Vicki Marks and Dee Dee Turcotte, co-chairmen. The Home School and Modern Woodmen of America, a fraternal life insurance society with home offices in Rock Island, Ill. are co-sponsoring the carnival.

The event is offered to the community children to provide a safe and fun-filled evening.

"We're hoping for a terrific turnout because we've got the prizes and souvenirs to accommodate quite a crowd," Marks said.

Costume judging will encompass all ages, and games and activities will be provided for all, although the main emphasis will be on school-age children.

All youngsters planning to attend the party sign pledge cards stating, "I promise to respect the property of other people and will cooperate with leaders to make this party a success."

In addition to giving children the opportunity to do their personal part in helping Waveland enjoy a sensible and safe Halloween, these cards serve as registrations for the unique "Saf-T-Fun" game.

"This curfew can be a fun type of thing," Turcotte said.

Party goers will hear the official announcement of the party ending. Thirty minutes later, five pledge cards will be drawn and the potential winners will be called. If children whose names are drawn are at home, they will receive one of the prizes.

Five Saf-T-Fun prizes are provided by Modern Woodmen of America. Other donations for the party have been made by local businesses and friends of St. Clare.

Donnie Huddleston, local representative, said, "Modern Woodmen of America is sponsoring similar parties in hundreds of communities in the United States. This is part of the society's continuing program to further the general welfare of the youth of our nation and to contribute to local community progress."

North Beach sponsors carnival

North Bay Elementary School in Bay St. Louis will sponsor a Halloween carnival Oct. 26 at 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. on the school grounds.

Halloween dance at BMS

The Bay St. Louis Little League Girls Softball will sponsor a Halloween dance for students ages 9-14 on Saturday, Oct. 26 from 7 to 11 p.m. at the Bay Middle School auditorium.

Music will be provided by Off The Wall, and refreshments will be served. Cost is $3 per person.

Further information is available by calling Mary Perkins at 467-6644 after 5 p.m.

Goblins to haunt fire house

Friday, Saturday and Halloween nights, the West Hancock Volunteer Fire Department will be transformed into the Pearlington Fire Station Haunted House, located on Highway 604.

Visitors will walk through the maze of fright, as they confront the Devil, Jason, Dracula, Freddy Krueger, the Grim Reaper, Dracula's bride, the Mummy, the She-Devil and the Wicked Witch.

Hot dogs and refreshments will be available. The haunted house's doors will open at 5 p.m. Admission is $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The yearly haunted house is held as a benefit for the volunteer fire department.

water and $1 for sewerage) was needed to meet with terms set by the FHA loan.

"I was mistaken in my memory," she commented. The reduction in usage is the last of the conditions required by the loan. The loan required minimum services on utilities be raised to $17.95. This was done through a $5 increase several years ago during the application process.

She commented, "The increases are needed because the city has to pay for a new sewer system coming in and for the old system that is falling apart."

"Services cost money." Prior to the meeting the board discussed the need to find alternate solutions for future revenue building.

It was suggested that a workshop be held at a later date for such discussion, giving everyone time to deliberate.

At present, Waveland's largest revenue sources are utilities (est., water-$706,500, gas $577,700); followed by sales taxes (est. $728,300); and then property taxes (est. $390,000).

Utilities and property taxes are the only major revenue over which the city has direct control.

Property taxes have not changed in millage since prior to 1984.

As of November 1, the minimum charge for water will be $18.95 for 0-7,000 gallons of usage and the monthly charge for sewerage service will be $18.95.

The minimum charge for gas and the wastewater treatment fee included in Waveland utility services will remain the same.

THE OVERSTREET CAMPAIGN

FOR STATE SENATE #46
WISHES TO ADVISE YOU THAT:

★We need a Republican State Senator who will actively oppose the style of the liberal Jackson/Dukakis Democratic party that we have here in this state.

★The ridiculous split of the Diamondhead voting precinct is proof that drastic reforms are needed in County Government.

★First of all, we need guidelines on how supervisors draw beat lines. Hancock beat lines are a good example.

★County beats should not overlap incorporated cities; the redundancy has got to go. We need to work to reduce the number of county beats wherever possible.

★City residents should not pay county taxes and city taxes.

★City Annexation bids should require that free elections be held in the proposed annexed area like is required in other states.

★We need a state senator who will fight to reduce to size of the State House and Senate and draw district lines at city and county lines instead of the present gerrymandered method we have now.

★I would like to thank my Democratic opponent for agreeing to appear with me on the numerous political forums we have already had in the past, and also the 2 or more to come in the near future.

★We need more support for the legitimate family unit instead of supporting anti-family welfare breeding programs.

★Reform education by eliminating state and federal controls over local school districts. This will eliminate the outrageous administration costs.

★And to remember on Nov. 5th to vote.

Favre: BIG game for Hawks against Picayune

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

According to Coach Irvin Favre, tomorrow night's game against the Picayune Maroon Tide could decide district play for either team.

"We both have identical records in district play at 2-1," Favre explained.

"The way things stand now, it appears fairly certain that Pearl River Central will have a slot in the playoffs.

"Other than that, it is between D'Iberville, St. Stanislaus, us (Hancock) and Picayune."

"Friday's game is very important to us."

Favre said not only is Friday's game "big" in terms of playing stats, but the Maroon Tide, coached by former Bay High School standout Nate Fairconnetue, has a running five-man front that is powerful.

"They have a left defensive tackle that is 290 pounds, a right defensive tackle that is 295 pounds and a nose guard at 225. One of their linebackers is 230 pounds.

"These boys are big, 6-foot-4-inch and 6-foot-5-inch. They are not just weight. They are power.

"We will have to play a very good defensive ball game.

"Picayune is more of a running team. They put a lot of people in the front and power run.

"The Hawks are going to have to stop them in order to get good field position.

"Right now, the Maroon Tide is only giving up 16 points per game.

"We will need all the support our fans can give as the game will be played in Picayune.

"We plan to play hard and keep the ball moving."

Favre continued to emphasize the significance of this coming game. He said though every game is of importance, as the field narrows, the importance of one game over another grows.

"This is a must game for both of us.

"I know my boys will continue to fight, and I expect they will give me their best, as they always do."

Hancock and Picayune kick off at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the Picayune Memorial Stadium.

Tigers seek homecoming win over Perry Central

BY RANDY PONDER

The Bay High Tigers will celebrate homecoming Friday night in J.D. McCullough Stadium with an important District 8 Class 3-A contest against Perry Central.

Bay High came close to beating the Hancock Hawks last week, falling just short at 7-0. The Tigers are 3-4 overall but 3-1 in conference play.

"That was an outstanding defensive struggle that was decided on two situations," Tiger coach Rocky Gaudin stated.

"First, there was the fumbled punt recovery by Hancock at our 25-yard-line that led to their only score. The TD followed a very questionable 15-yard penalty that gave them a fourth and two at our eight, instead of fourth and 17 at our 23."

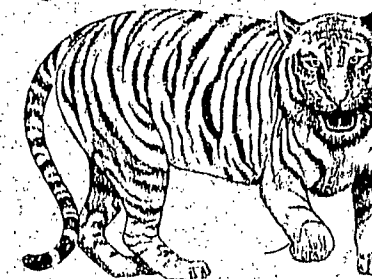

"The other critical situation came when we failed to score from first and goal at their four-yard-line in the third quarter," Gaudin concluded.

Adrian Whavers was named offensive player of the week, gaining 82 yards on 16 carries. Dwayne Antoine picked up defensive player of the week honors with 12 tackles against Hancock.

Gaudin said the defense, led by Antoine and Gerrit Carver, was superlative.

"If we can pull off a win against Perry Central, we assure ourselves of playing Poplarville next week for at least a playoff spot and possibly the district co-championship," the Tiger coach commented.

Perry Central is a lot like the Tigers, they are a young team that is getting better each week. They have won their last two games to improve their record to 2-5 overall and 2-3 in district play.

East Marion is currently leading the division with a 4-1 mark. They are 5-2 overall.

"This will be a tough game for us," Gaudin concluded.

Game time is 7:30 p.m.

St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws visit undefeated Blue Devils

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will face their toughest test Friday night in Carriere when they play the Pearl River Central Blue Devils.

Pearl River Central is 7-0 for the season and the Division 8 Class 4-A conference leader.

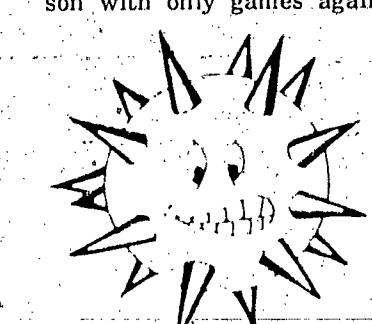

Rock head coach Kenny Lyons feels that Pearl River Central quarterback Bobby Thaxton is the best in the conference and college-bound.

"PRC passes and catches very well, and they have an aggressive eight-man defense," Lyons said.

Lyons is expecting all members of the team to be ready for Friday night's game, with a few bruises remaining from last week's hard-hitting encounter with d'Iberville.

Lyons said, "We do have a chance against Pearl River Central if we can get the jump on them and be very competitive."

Stanislaus is 5-2 for the season with only games against PRC and Hancock left in district play. In Division 8 Class 4-A, Stanislaus is 2-2 for the season.

Pearl River Central is 4-0 in conference play. The Blue Devils will play St. Stanislaus and then have to face d'Iberville's Warriors in the last conference game of the regular season.

Pearl River Central last year was defeated by St. Stanislaus.

State softball champs

The Bay St. Louis 11-12-year-old girls little league softball team hoisted the 1991 Mississippi State Championship flag over McDonald Field Sunday, Oct. 20. From left are coach Junior Bilbo, Jennifer Stahl, Amy Dunn, Angela Lawson, Rheannon Ferrill, manager Sandra Gray, Racquel Fontenot and Belle Penrose. Not pictured are team members Patches Moran, Christie Milligan, Cassie Johnson, Julie Summers, Amber Schultz, Kate Martin, Shea LaFontaine and Kendra Wilkerson and league president Mary Perkins.

Jr. Hawks to host Picayune

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock Junior High School football teams confront Picayune tonight at Hawk Stadium.

Coach Andy Pernicaro said the Hawks were planning to not let the larger size of the Picayune players deter them from a victory. "We will play our best."

Last week, both teams were defeated by the Bay St. Louis Tigers. The seventh/eighth grade team lost 8-0, while the ninth grade team lost 30-0.

The week before, the junior teams met with the Pearl River Central Blue Devils and the ninth grade team grabbed a victory at 20-14. The seventh/eighth grade team did not fare as well, losing 22-0.

The junior Hawks stand: seventh/eighth grade, 3-4 for the season, 3-2 in district, and 2-2 in conference; ninth grade, 2-4 for the season, 1-4 in district, and 2-2 in conference.

The seventh/eighth grade teams begin play at 5:30 p.m. and the ninth grade team kicks off at 7 p.m.

Jr. Tigers shut out Hawks

BY TRACI BONNEY

While the B team Bay Tigers finished their season with a 3-1 record, the 9th grade and 7th/8th grade Tigers both defeated their Hawk counterparts last week.

The B team ended its season October 7 with a win over Poplarville 29-14.

The 9th graders smoked Hancock 30-0 October 17 behind the running of Xavier Lewis, LeRoy Hawkins, Brad Laneaux and Raleigh Murphy.

The defense recorded its fourth shutout of the year. The lineup included Lewis, Hawkins, Laneaux, Murphy, Steve Scharp, Phillip Summers, Chris Russ, Raymond McCall, Yancey Mayfield, Attiene McNeely, Michael Sanders, Dax Fryer, Llydell Haynes, Gene Taylor and Abe Flores.

The 7th/8th grade team shut out Hancock 8-0 October 17 on a TD pass from Kendal Marquar to Wali Shabazz.

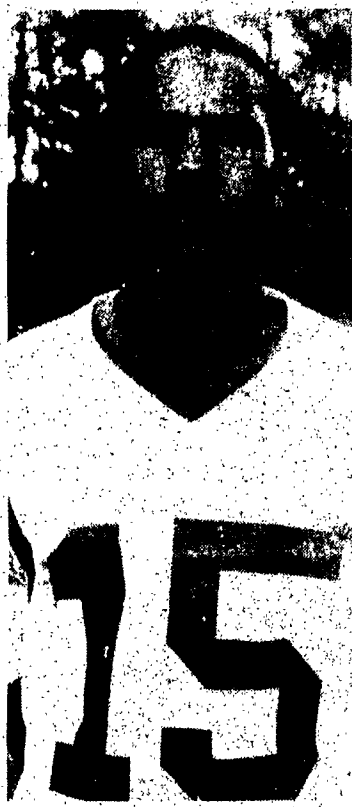

The shutout was the second of the season for the defense, which included Bobby Gavagnie, J.T. Tillman, Danny Farrell, Shabazz, John Favre, Donnie Ray, M.J. Krankey, T.J. Hawkins and James Benton.

Coach Rocky Gaudin commented, "The 15-man 9th grade squad can win the conference championship if they beat Long Beach today. To do so would end a three year string of championships by Long Beach, which has an outstanding tailback in Avery James.

"The 7th/8th grade squad can claim a runner-up spot to Pearl River Central if they can defeat Long Beach. We are very proud that our program has reached the stage, in just our second year, where we are competing for these championships.

"It has come about through the hard work and dedication of our players, coaches, parents and school people."

Bay High Players of Week

Adrian Whavers, left, was selected by the Bay High Athletic Club as Offensive Player of the Week for the week of October 14-18. The junior tailback was the leading rusher in Friday night's game against Hancock High School, with 82 yards on 16 carries. Defensive Player of the Week was Dwayne Antoine, #42, a sophomore line-backer. Antoine lead the team in tackles, with 12 to his credit. (Bay High School Player of the Week award is sponsored by John McDonald Realty.)

Squirrel hunting opens in Zone III

Just about every time a hunter turns around these days a new hunting season is opening. That's the case with squirrel hunting opening Oct. 26 in Zone III.

Zone III is that portion south of Mississippi 84 and east of I-55.

The daily bag limit on squirrels is 8 and the possession limit is 16. A possession limit is not permitted on the opening day of any season.

Squirrel hunting ends Jan. 31 in Zone III.

Each year about 143,000 hunters harvest more than 1.7 million squirrels in Mississippi's 82 counties.

Conservation officials remind hunters they must have a valid hunting license signed and on their person before going to the woods squirrel hunting.

Raiders close fall soccer season

The Coast Episcopal High School Raiders played their last soccer game of the 1991 season last Saturday, Oct. 19. The Raiders were defeated by team No. 2 in the Hattiesburg Recreation League 4-0. Coach Eric Nye said, "For a first season, the Raiders played very well, finishing the season 4-4. We played in the Under-19 bracket and made a very good showing," he said. "Everyone on the team had plenty of playing time, including our seventh and eighth graders," said Nye.

Nye singled out seventh grader Marc Mortimer, eighth graders John Painter and Marty VanderNoot, and seniors Dave Hagan and Lars Bensmann for special mention in last Saturday's game.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Study indicates hooked fish have high mortality rate

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Fishing reports this week range from poor to none, so I did some research on "Catch-and-Release" in salt water.

The research was prompted by a newspaper article this past week that stated: "There is a prevailing thought among some Gulf Coast fishermen that a speckled trout cannot be caught then released and survive, especially if the trout has swallowed a hook."

The article went on to state that "many scoff at science," and that there are "scientific studies that hold that these fish can be released effectively."

These statements were used to justify the regulations that BMR has enacted to supposedly conserve specks and reds.

What is incredible is that a one-fish study conducted under wildly uncontrolled conditions was presented as a "scientific study" to justify this attack upon the views of the sport-fishermen. Most of the sport-fishermen I have talked to think the new rules on specks and reds are destroying instead of conserving the fisheries resource.

If you accept the concept of catch-and-release of reds and specks on its face value, it seems sound. But have you ever wondered just how many of the released fish survive? BMR estimates seem to vary from each time that I hear or see them published.

But, most of their reports seem to indicate that about 50 percent of the specks and reds caught and released die. I have never heard, nor have I seen a "real" scientific study to confirm or disprove the mortality numbers.

A "real" scientific study on the mortality rates of specks and reds by practicing catch-and-release was done by The Georgia Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Coastal Resources Division. The study began in June 1986 under the auspices of the DNR's recreational fisheries biologists and was concluded in June 1990. It was a four-year study done under strict scientific guidelines with controls and statistically significant, reproducible results.

From the beginning of the study to its conclusion, 513 red fish and 87 specks were caught. In addition to the hook-caught fish, a group of "control fish" were caught with a net. The control fish were subject to the same transportation stresses as the hook-caught fish. The fish were held in 1,000 gallon fiberglass holding tanks for approximately 14 days before release. The fish were observed daily and were fed live shrimp and crabs.

The hook-caught fish were divided into three categories by the location of the hook. The hook regions included: in the mouth area (maxilla); in the gill area; and in the gut or throat area. The hook was removed from all the fish hooked in the mouth. The fish hooked in the gut or gill regions randomly had either the hook removed or left in place by cutting the leader. The results of the study showed that mortality was higher than expected. Gill-hooked red fish had a mortality rate of 33 percent. Gut-hooked red fish had a mortality rate of 53 percent. (For speckled trout hooked in the gill, the mortality rate was 100 percent.)

An interesting variation in the study showed that of the gut-hooked reds that did not have the hook removed, the mortality rate was slightly lower, at 50 percent. When the hook was removed, the mortality rate increased to 59 percent.

Most of the fish that died during the 14-day confinement period died from infections contracted through hook wounds.

Notation should be made that the water temperatures in the coastal waters of Georgia are considerably cooler than the waters of the Mississippi Sound. The higher the water temperature; the more ideal the conditions are for the growth of bacteria, and therefore the more susceptible the fish are to lethal infections from wounds.

Most of the sportfishermen, and an ever increasing number of commercial fishermen, have been begging for real honest-to-goodness scientific studies to be conducted on our saltwater fisheries.

What we have received is antidotal "one fish so-called studies" and a few questions posed to returning fishermen such as,

J. E. Loiacano inducted into Pearl River Hall of Fame

Bay St. Louis resident J. E. Loiacano was inducted into the Pearl River Community College

Sports Hall of Fame in Poplarville October 12. Loiacano was an All-

American running back on the 1961 Wildcat team, which scored 446 points on their way to winning the national championship.

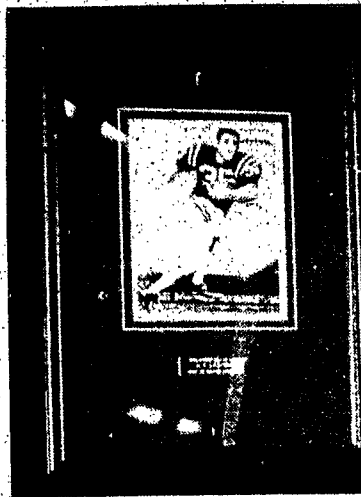

He was later a star linebacker for the Mississippi State Bulldogs, where he led the team in tackles and assists in the 1963 Liberty Bowl.

He played in the East-West All-Star Game, the Blue-Gray Game and played professional football for the Canton and Philadelphia Bulldogs in the Continental Football League.

Loiacano served as head coach at Bay High School and Gulfport High and was an assistant at Mississippi State.

He has a master's degree from William Carey College, has a 69-24-1 coaching record and one state title to his credit. He has won several AAU weightlifting events, and is an author and guest lecturer on strength training.

Since 1980, he has been the owner of Loiacano's Health Club in Bay St. Louis. Loiacano is married to the former Courtney Coward, and they have three children, Andrea Loiacano, an artist, who has an art degree from William Carey College and is a manager of Loiacano's Health Club; Helene Johnson, who is married to Norman Johnson of Bay St. Louis and has a two-year-old daughter, Jessica; and Jason Loiacano, a senior at Bay High School, where he is a fullback on the Tiger football team.

PRC Wildcats face Southwest

Simply put, the Pearl River College Wildcats are worried about the Southwest Bears.

The Bears, 5-3 overall, are one of two stumbling blocks left if the Wildcats hope to make it to the playoffs. Co-Lin, in the last regular season game, is the other obstacle facing Pearl River.

"We can't think about anything or anyone, except the Southwest Bears," said Willie Coats, PRC head coach. "Southwest is a good football team. I have been impressed every time I have seen them play this year."

This past week the PRC Wildcats pushed their record to 5-3 overall by beating Holmes 35-14. Southwest, down 20-7 at halftime, came roaring back to beat the East Central Warriors 30-27.

"The Bears could easily be 7-1 or 6-2," said Coats. "They make few mistakes and they never quit."

The Bears opened with a 24-17 victory over the now 4-2-1 Northeast Tigers and then lost to South Division leader Hinds 34-14. The Bears beat Holmes 34-7 but lost, in the last seconds, 19-16 to Gulf Coast.

Southwest beat Jones 14-13,

East Mississippi 35-7, and lost to Co-Lin 19-10.

Coats summed things up easily. "If we win the next two games we are in (the playoffs). If we lose one game we are out."

Determining the number one and two teams in the South depends a lot on the outcome of this week's action. Gulf Coast defeated Co-Lin this past weekend to go 4-1, while the Wolves dropped to 3-1-1. The Hinds Eagles upended Jones to post a 4-0-1 ledger.

PRC has 31 South mark with two games remaining. If the Wildcats defeat southwest and Co-Lin, then they are in. If Gulf Coast is victorious over Hinds, they are in. If PRC loses either of its two remaining games, Co-Lin and Hinds, the front runners all year, are back in the picture.

The Wildcats' two tailbacks rushed for more than 100 yards this past week against Holmes, a team which won its first game of the season, but has since dropped seven in a row.

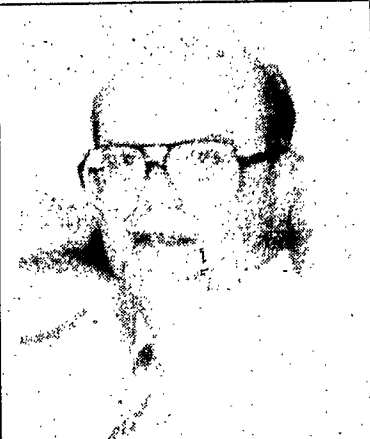

Doug Johnson netted 113 yards on 25 carries, while James Holloway picked up 120 yards on 18 attempts. The PRC fullbacks also had a good night as Brian Sellers raced for 58 yards and Tyrone Barnhart picked up 40.

The Wildcats rushed for 336 yards as a team, while picking up 462 total yards. Quarterback Colby Stewart passed for three touchdowns, including two to James Holloway. Wendell Magee caught one pass for a score and Sellers bulled his way in for two more touchdowns.

The PRC defense, after giving up a quick Bulldog touchdown, allowed just 129 total yards.

The Wildcats will play Southwest in Summit at 7 p.m. Thursday. PRC has dominated the Southwest series by recording 40 victories and only 8 setbacks. Two games have ended in ties.

PRC defeated the Bears 38-27 last year and 31-15 in 1989 and 34-14 in 1988. The Bears won the 1987 battle 31-30.

Your Health Is Our Primary Concern!

A Medicine Moment From Your Big B Pharmacist

The week of October 20-26 has been designated National Pharmacy Week in recognition of the important role pharmacists play in today's health care system. Studies indicate that both prescription and nonprescription medications are often misused, occasionally resulting in very serious consequences. Big B pharmacists are experts in the use of thousands of different medications. As a group, Big B pharmacists are committed to helping people use medication correctly. We encourage our customers to know how to use their medications properly by asking the following questions, whenever a medicine is purchased.

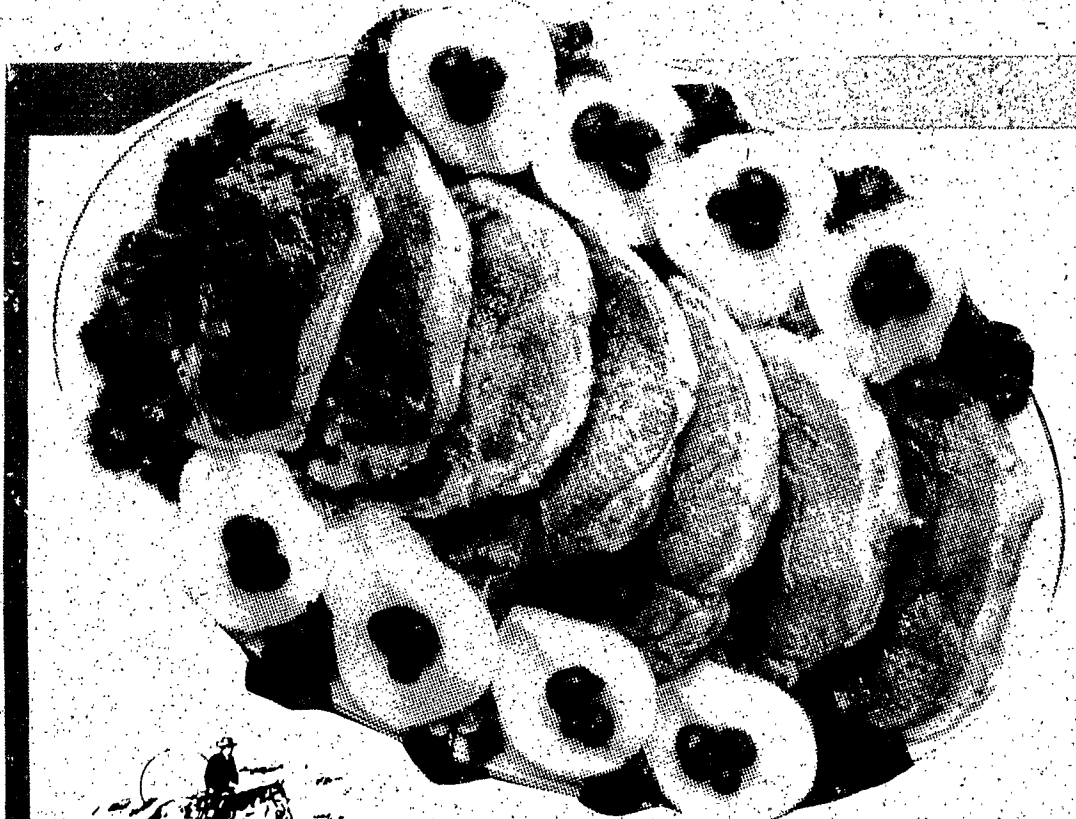

1. What is the name of the medicine and what is it supposed to do?
2. When and how do I take it?
3. How long should I take it?
4. Does this drug product contain anything that can cause an allergic reaction?
5. Should I avoid alcohol, any other drugs, foods and/or activities?
6. What are the side effects of this medication?
7. What if I miss a dose?
8. Is it safe to become pregnant or to breast feed while taking this medication?
9. Is there a generic version of the medication available?
10. Are there any special storage requirements for my medicine?

Remember...when it comes to medications, what you don't know, can hurt you. So, during National Pharmacy Week and every other week of the year, depend on your Big B pharmacist to help you use medication wisely. Choose your pharmacist as carefully as you choose your physician or dentist. Make your pharmacist a Big B pharmacist because at Big B, your health is our primary concern.
